

Survivair Mark 2™/Mark 3™ Self Contained Breathing Apparatus (SCBA) and Survivair Mark 2 Pressure Demand Supplied Air Respirator (PD-SAR) NIOSH Certification Rescission

Respiratory Advisory: NIOSH Certification Rescission

In addition to the Mark 2/Mark 3 SCBA and Mark 2 PD-SAR manufacturing discontinuation (2000) and replacement parts discontinuation (2010), Honeywell is rescinding the NIOSH certification on all Mark 2/Mark 3 SCBAs and Mark 2 PD-SARs. This will be effective December 31, 2015.

When the NIOSH certification is rescinded, all Mark 2/Mark 3 SCBAs and Mark 2 PD-SARs used in the marketplace will no longer be NIOSH-certified and should no longer be used.

This rescission affects the following NIOSH approvals:

Mark 2/Mark 3 SCBA	Mark 2 PD-SAR with Escape	Mark 2 PD-SAR
TC-13F-108	TC-13F-290	TC-19C-172
TC-13F-113	TC-13F-312	TC-19C-173
TC-13F-130	TC-13F-313	TC-19C-174
TC-13F-131		TC-19C-175
TC-13F-270

Honeywell Respiratory Protection is committed to providing the most up-to-date SCBAs and PD-SARs in the market. There are SCBA and SAR programs/promotions that can be used to transfer your customers to a current Honeywell SCBA or PD-SAR platform.

Please advise any Mark 2/Mark 3 SCBA and Mark 2 PD-SAR users of this news and begin their transition to a Honeywell SCBA or PD-SAR that is best suited for today's needs.
